*Beth Shumate began creating art as far back as she can remember--even long before she acquired the Shumate addendum to her name. Beth grew up next door to her best friend and fellow artist: Billy Bob Beamer. She earned a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from Virginia Commonwealth University, taught art for a few years, then a number of years later earned a Master of Social Work degree, also from Virginia Commonwealth University. Beth continues with a private practice in clinical social work, while also re-emerging as a nationally recognized artist. She has always brought her creative spirit to all that she does; it is essential to who she is. The cover painting, "100 Days of Blooming," is a representation of her attempt to define the provocative in the ordinary.
